PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

Plaintiffs respectfully submit this memorandum in support of their motion for preliminary approval of a settlement reached between Plaintiffs, on behalf of themselves and the settlement class, and defendant HSBC Bank plc (“Settling Defendant”). The Settlement consists of a $42 million cash payment and an agreement to provide significant cooperation to Plaintiffs in pursuing their case against the Non-Settling Defendants.¹ See Decl. of Merrill G. Davidoff, Ex. A (the “Settlement Agreement” or “SA”). The Settlement Agreement was reached after extended arm’s-length negotiations between experienced counsel for Plaintiffs and for Settling Defendant. As demonstrated below, the Settlement is an excellent result and is fair, reasonable, and adequate under the governing standards in this Circuit. Accordingly, pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(e), Plaintiffs seek entry of the accompanying proposed Preliminary Approval Order submitted herewith. See Decl. of Merrill G. Davidoff, Ex. B (the “Preliminary Approval Order”).

This is the second settlement in this class action. The Court previously approved Plaintiffs’ settlement with Defendant Deutsche Bank AG (the “Deutsche Bank Settlement”). See ECF No. 187. Concurrent with this motion, Plaintiffs have moved the Court for an Order Providing for Notice to the Settlement Class and Preliminarily Approving the Plan of Allocation (the “Notice Motion”). As set forth therein, Plaintiffs propose to combine notice of the HSBC Settlement and the Deutsche Bank Settlement into one notice and mailing, and to distribute the money from both settlements to the (identical) settlement class from a single net settlement fund pursuant to a single Plan of Allocation.

SUMMARY OF THE SETTLEMENT

The Settlement provides for $42 million in monetary relief as well as obliges Settling Defendant to provide transaction data and discovery, which will assist Plaintiffs both in developing an efficient plan of distribution and in the prosecution of the Action against the Non-Settling Defendants. See SA §§ 5, 13. In exchange for this monetary relief and cooperation, Plaintiffs and members of the proposed Settlement Class that do not exclude themselves will give up their rights to sue Settling Defendant and Released Parties for Released Claims. See SA §§ 2(x) (defining Released Claims); 2(y) (defining Released Parties); 4 (describing releases).²

Settlement Class Definition. The Settlement is made on behalf of a proposed Settlement Class defined as:

All persons or entities who during the period from January 1, 2004 through June 30, 2013, either (A) sold any physical gold or financial or derivative instrument in which gold is the underlying reference asset, including, but not limited to, those who sold (i) gold bullion, gold bullion coins, gold bars, gold ingots or any form of physical gold, (ii) gold futures contracts in transactions conducted in whole or in part on COMEX or any other exchange operated in the United States, (iii) shares in gold exchange-traded funds (“ETFs”), (iv) gold call options in transactions conducted over-the-counter or in whole or in part on COMEX or any other exchange operated in the United States; (v) gold spot, gold forwards or gold swaps over-the-counter; or (B) bought gold put options in transactions conducted over-the-counter or in whole or in part on COMEX or on any other exchange operated in the United States.³

See SA § 3(a).

² Settling Defendant has denied and continues to deny each and all of the claims and allegations of wrongdoing made by Class Plaintiffs in the Action and all charges of wrongdoing or liability against it arising out of any of the conduct, statements, acts, or omissions alleged, or that could have been alleged, in the Action.

³ Excluded from the Settlement Class are Defendants, their officers, directors, management, employees, affiliates, parents, subsidiaries, and co-conspirators, whether or not named in the Action (as defined in the Settlement Agreement), and the United States Government, and other governments. Also excluded is the Judge presiding over this action, her law clerks, spouse, and any person within the third degree of relationship living in the Judge’s household and the spouse of such a person. SA § 5(a).

Settlement Amount. The monetary component of the Settlement is $42 million (the “Settlement Fund”). See SA § 2(cc). In accordance with the Settlement Agreement, the Settlement Fund has been wired into an Escrow Account and invested in interest-bearing United States Treasuries. See SA §§ 5(a), (d). As provided in the Settlement Agreement, the Settlement Fund (less any taxes due and administrative costs paid) will only be returned to Settling Defendant in the unlikely event that the Settlement Agreement is terminated due to certain circumstances. See SA § 10.⁴

Cooperation Obligations. The Settlement Agreement obligates Settling Defendant to cooperate with Plaintiffs and to provide certain discovery, including, subject to Court orders and any applicable laws, privileges, and other protections: (a) interviews with knowledgeable current and, to the extent practicable, former employees of Settling Defendant; (b) document production consisting of materials that Settling Defendant has produced to government regulators (including any future government productions); (c) declarations and certifications to establish that these materials are authentic; and (d) transactional and other data to assist in the administration of the notice and claims process. See SA § 13. Settling Defendant has made productions and is in the process of producing additional documents and transactional data. Settling Defendant’s cooperation provides Plaintiffs with discovery that either could not have been obtained by any other means, or only would have been obtained, if at all, after contentious and adversarial proceedings including potentially with Court involvement.

⁴ The Settlement Agreement also provides that for a period of four months from execution, interim Co-Lead Counsel shall not enter into other settlements with bank Defendants for an amount less than $42 million, unless there is a material change in circumstances that alters the scope or perceived value of the Action. See SA § 14(r). Such “most favored nation” provisions are regularly approved by courts, particularly where, as here, they are time-limited and provide accommodations for potential changes in circumstances. See, e.g., Alaska Elec. Pension Fund v. Bank of Am. Corp., Case No. 14-cv-7126, ECF Nos. 222-2, 228 (S.D.N.Y. May 11, 2016) (granting preliminary approval for settlement that agreed that counsel “shall not enter into Other Settlements that provide for a settlement amount of less than $50 million” absent a change in circumstances); In re Linerboard Antitrust Litig., 321 F. Supp. 2d 619, 627 (E.D. Pa. 2004); In re Vitamins Antitrust Litig., 2001 WL 856292, at *5 & n.4 (D.D.C. July 25, 2001); see also Manual for Complex Litigation (Fourth) § 13.23, at 414 (4th ed. 2004).

Release of Claims. In consideration for the benefits of the Settlement described above, and upon the Court’s approval, the Action, all claims asserted in the Action, and all Released Claims belonging to Plaintiffs will be dismissed with prejudice as against Settling Defendant, and Plaintiffs and each of the Settlement Class members (and anyone claiming through or on behalf of them) will be permanently barred and enjoined from asserting any of the Released Claims against Settling Defendant and Released Parties in any action or proceeding. See SA § 4. The release covers those claims “arising from or relating in any way to conduct alleged in the Action or that could have been alleged in the Action, in any event arising from the same factual predicate of the Action, and concerning, relating to, or arising out of any Gold Investment Transaction from January 1, 2004 through March 20, 2015.” SA § 4(d). The release date extends to March 20, 2015, the same as that used in the Deutsche Bank agreement—the date that a new gold price setting mechanism was launched to replace the Gold Fix. The release was negotiated and drafted with the understanding and intent that, in addition to the claims actually alleged in this case, the settlement also releases certain claims that could have been alleged based on the same set of facts. See, e.g., Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Visa U.S.A., Inc., 396 F.3d 96, 107 (2d Cir. 2005) (“The law is well established in this Circuit and others that class action releases may include claims not presented and even those which could not have been presented as long as the released conduct arises out of the ‘identical factual predicate’ as the settled conduct.”).

A “Gold Investment Transaction” is defined as follows:

(A) the sale of any physical gold or financial or derivative instrument in which gold is the underlying reference asset including, but not limited to, sales of (i)

gold bullion, gold bullion coins, gold ingots, gold bars, or any form of physical gold, (ii) gold futures contracts in transactions conducted in whole or in part on COMEX or any other exchange operated in the United States, (iii) shares in gold ETFs, (iv) gold call options in transactions conducted over-the-counter or in whole or in part on COMEX or any other exchange operated in the United States, (v) gold put options, which were later exercised, in transactions conducted over-the-counter or in whole or in part on COMEX or any other exchange operated in the United States, or (vi) gold spot, gold forwards or gold swaps traded over-the-counter; or (B) the purchase of (i) gold call options, which were later exercised, sold, or held to expiration, in transactions conducted over-the-counter or in whole or in part on COMEX or on any other exchange operated in the United States, or (ii) gold put options in transactions conducted over-the-counter or in whole or in part on COMEX or on any other exchange operated in the United States.

See SA § 2(q).

Termination Provisions. Termination is only permitted within thirty days of any of the following events: (i) the Court denies, in whole or in part, the motion to certify the Settlement Class; (ii) the Court enters an order declining to enter the Preliminary Approval Order in any material respect; (iii) the Court enters an order refusing to approve the Settlement Agreement or any material part of it; or (iv) the Court, a court of appeal or any higher court enters an order declining to enter, reversing, vacating, materially modifying or dismissing, in whole or in part and in any material respect, the Final Judgment and Order of Dismissal. See SA § 10(a).

Plaintiffs and Settling Defendant have also agreed to a provision that is activated if opt-outs to the Settlement reach an amount that represents a “material portion” of the transactions that would be eligible for compensation under the Settlement Agreement. See SA § 10(b). If the provision is activated then Settling Defendant, in its discretion, shall have the right to seek relief as set forth in Exhibit C to the Settlement Agreement. Id.

Attorneys’ Fees, Expenses, and Service Awards. The Settlement Agreement reserves Plaintiffs’ right to request interim attorneys’ fees, reimbursement of expenses or charges in connection with prosecuting the Action, and/or class representative service awards. See SA § 7.

The Settlement Class would be given notice of any such application or applications, which, of course, also would be subject to Court approval.

ARGUMENT

I. THE SETTLEMENT MEETS THE STANDARD FOR PRELIMINARY APPROVAL

Rule 23(e) requires court approval of a proposed class action settlement upon finding that the proposal “is fair, reasonable, and adequate.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(2). The preliminary approval process is governed by a “likelihood standard,” requiring the Court to assess whether the parties have shown that “the court will likely be able to grant final approval and certify the class.” In re Payment Card Interchange Fee and Merchant Discount Antitrust Litig., 330 F.R.D. 11, 28 n.21 (S.D.N.Y. 2019). In conducting a preliminary approval inquiry, a court considers both the “negotiating process leading up to the settlement, i.e., procedural fairness, as well as the settlement’s substantive terms, i.e., substantive fairness.” In re Platinum and Palladium Commodities Litig., 2014 WL 3500655, at *11 (S.D.N.Y. July 15, 2014).

Under the December 1, 2018 amendments to Rule 23(e)(2), in weighing preliminary approval, the Court must consider whether: “(A) the class representatives and class counsel have adequately represented the class; (B) the proposal was negotiated at arm’s length; (C) the relief provided for the class is adequate . . . ; and (D) the proposal treats class members equitably relative to each other.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(2). “Paragraphs (A) and (B) constitute the procedural analysis factors, and examine the conduct of the litigation and of the negotiations leading up to the proposed settlement. Paragraphs (C) and (D) constitute the substantive analysis factors, examine “[t]he relief that the settlement is expected to provide to class members.” Payment Card, 330 F.R.D. at 29. These “factors add to, rather than displace,” the factors traditionally considered in the Second Circuit during the preliminary approval process. Id.

As demonstrated below, the Settlement Agreement warrants preliminary approval because it is procedurally and substantively fair.

A. The Settlement Is Procedurally Fair

“To determine procedural fairness, courts examine the negotiating process leading to the settlement.” Morris v. Affinity Health Plan, Inc., 859 F. Supp. 2d 611, 618 (S.D.N.Y. 2012). Where a settlement is the “product of arm’s length negotiations conducted by experienced counsel knowledgeable in complex class litigation,” the settlement enjoys a “presumption of fairness.” In re Austrian and German Bank Holocaust Litig., 80 F. Supp. 2d 164, 173-74 (S.D.N.Y. 2000), aff’d sub nom., D’Amato v. Deutsche Bank, 236 F.3d 78 (2d Cir. 2001).

The Settlement Agreement is the product of intensive settlement negotiations. Over a series of telephone meetings among experienced counsel extending over months, the Parties’ counsel exchanged views on the strength and weaknesses of Plaintiffs’ case and the Settling Defendant’s defenses, and engaged in significant back-and-forth on the Settlement Amount. Once the Parties had reach an agreement in principle on the Settlement Amount, they engaged in extensive, arm’s-length discussions concerning the non-monetary terms contained in the Settlement Agreement, finally entering into the Settlement Agreement on November 10, 2020.

Interim Co-Lead Counsel believe Plaintiffs’ claims have substantial merit but acknowledge the expense and uncertainty of continued litigation against Settling Defendant. In recommending that the Court approve the Settlement, interim Co-Lead Counsel have taken into account the uncertain outcome and risks of further litigation and believe the Settlement confers significant benefits on the Settlement Class in light of the circumstances here. Based on these considerations, there is “a strong initial presumption that the compromise is fair and reasonable.” In re Michael Milken and Assocs. Sec. Litig., 150 F.R.D. 57, 66 (S.D.N.Y. 1993); see also Henry v. Little Mint, Inc., 2014 WL 2199427, at *6 (S.D.N.Y. May 23, 2014) (“If the settlement was achieved through experienced counsel's arm's-length negotiations, absent fraud or collusion, courts should be hesitant to substitute their judgment for that of the parties who negotiated the settlement.”).

B. The Settlement Is Substantively Fair

In granting preliminary approval, courts must make a preliminary determination that the substantive terms of the proposed settlement are “fair, reasonable, and adequate.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(2). Courts in this Circuit have traditionally analyzed the “Grinnell factors” in assessing whether a proposed settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate. See City of Detroit v. Grinnell Corp., 495 F.2d 448, 463 (2d Cir. 1974) (listing factors). As noted above, the Grinnell factors have not been displaced by the 2019 amendments to Rule 23(e). See Payment Card, 330 F.R.D. at 29. Each factor supports preliminary approval.

1. The complexity, expense, and likely duration of the litigation

“Antitrust class actions ‘are notoriously complex, protracted, and bitterly fought.’” Meredith Corp. v. SESAC, LLC, 87 F. Supp. 3d 650, 661 (S.D.N.Y. 2015); see also Virgin Atl. Airways Ltd. v. British Airways PLC, 257 F.3d 256, 263 (2d Cir. 2001) (noting the “factual complexities of antitrust cases”). This case is no different.

The initial complaints in this litigation were filed five-and-a-half years ago and Defendants’ motions to dismiss were extensively briefed and argued. On October 6, 2016, the Court granted in part and denied in part the remaining Fixing Bank Defendants’ and LGMF’s motions to dismiss. As the Court noted in its Order appointing interim Co-Lead Counsel, “given that the putative class is challenging the conduct of five major banking institutions over a period of at least ten years, successful prosecution of this litigation will require a massive commitment of resources[.]” Moran v. The Bank of Nova Scotia, No. 14 Civ. 2213, ECF No. 23, at 3

(S.D.N.Y. July 22, 2014). Each stage of this litigation is likely to be just as bitterly fought as the motions to dismiss, including discovery, class certification, summary judgment, and trial.

In sum, “[t]here can be no doubt that this class action would be enormously expensive to continue, extraordinarily complex to try, and ultimately uncertain of result.” In re Nasdaq Mkt.-Makers Antitrust Litig. (“Nasdaq III”), 187 F.R.D. 465, 477 (S.D.N.Y. 1998). This factor weighs in favor of preliminary approval.

2. The reaction of the Class to the Settlement

Because notice has yet to be provided to potential members of the Settlement Class, courts generally do not consider this Grinnell factor at the preliminary approval stage. See Reade-Alvarez v. Eltman, Eltman & Cooper, P.C., 237 F.R.D. 26, 34 (E.D.N.Y. 2006) (“Clearly, some of these [Grinnell] factors, particularly the reaction of the class to the settlement, are impossible to weigh prior to notice and a hearing.”). In any event, all of the Plaintiffs approve of this Settlement, and should any objections from class members be received prior to the Fairness Hearing, interim Co-Lead Counsel will address those concerns in the final approval papers.

3. The stage of the proceedings

The “stage of the proceedings” factor ultimately is concerned with “whether the plaintiffs have obtained a sufficient understanding of the case to gauge the strengths and weaknesses of their claims and the adequacy of the settlement.” In re AOL Time Warner, Inc., 2006 WL 903236, at *10 (S.D.N.Y. Apr. 6, 2006). Here, the parties have benefitted from multiple court rulings, have exchanged many documents in discovery, and are now in deposition discovery. Due to this work, the depth of Plaintiffs’ and interim Co-Lead Counsel’s knowledge of the strengths and potential weaknesses of their claims are more than adequate to support the Settlement.

In addition, although it was filed in 2014, including because of a stay on discovery, this case is still in the middle of discovery, with no schedule for class certification. The Settlement is in that sense an early settlement, and thus conserves judicial resources while providing substantial value to the Class by allowing recovery without delay. See Beckman v. KeyBank, N.A., 293 F.R.D. 467, 474-75 (S.D.N.Y. 2013) (“[C]ourts encourage early settlement of class actions, when warranted, because early settlement allows class members to recover without unnecessary delay and allows the judicial system to focus resources elsewhere.”). And as this is the first settlement in years and the first since the parties have been engaged in discovery and obtained guidance from the Court on various issues, the Settlement may be considered akin to an “ice-breaker” that may increase the likelihood of additional settlements. See In re GSE Bonds Antitrust Litig., 414 F. Supp. 3d 686, 697 (S.D.N.Y. 2019) (noting value of “ice-breaker” settlements in spurring other parties to the point of serious negotiation).

Looked at either way, this factor thus strongly supports preliminary approval of the proposed Settlement.

4. The risks of establishing liability and damages

In assessing this factor, “the Court should balance the benefits afforded the Class, including the immediacy and certainty of a recovery, against the continuing risks of litigation.” Flores v. Mamma Lombardi’s of Holbrook, Inc., 104 F. Supp. 3d 290, 303 (E.D.N.Y. 2015). Because Plaintiffs continue to litigate against the Non-Settling Defendants, interim Co-Lead Counsel must be circumspect in discussing potential risks in establishing liability, damages, and maintaining a class action through trial, but provide the following analysis for settlement purposes only.

As noted above, Defendants filed motions to dismiss, arguing, among other things, that the SAC: (i) failed to plausibly allege a violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act; (ii) failed to adequately allege antitrust standing; and (iii) failed to adequately plead claims for violation of the Commodity Exchange Act. See ECF No. 71-77. Although, in interim Co-Lead Counsel’s view, these arguments were (rightly) largely rejected, had Settling Defendant not agreed to settle, it was prepared to vigorously contest liability and damages on these and other grounds at class certification, summary judgment, and trial. There is no doubt that Settling Defendant, represented by experienced counsel, would present sophisticated arguments to the Court at each step of the litigation and argue that it was not liable for any damages.

Even if liability was established at trial, Plaintiffs would face the complexities inherent in proving damages to the jury. There is no doubt that at trial the issue inevitably would involve a “battle of the experts.” Nasdaq III, 187 F.R.D. at 476. “In this ‘battle of experts,’ it is virtually impossible to predict with any certainty which testimony would be credited, and ultimately, which damages would be found to have been caused by actionable, rather than the myriad nonactionable factors[.]” In re Warner Commc’ns Sec. Litig., 618 F. Supp. 735, 744-45 (S.D.N.Y. 1985). Thus, there is a risk that a jury might accept one or more of Settling Defendant’s damages arguments and award nothing at all or award less than the $42,000,000 that, if approved, would be available to the Settlement Class under this Settlement. “Indeed, the history of antitrust litigation is replete with cases in which antitrust plaintiffs succeeded at trial on liability, but recovered no damages, or only negligible damages, at trial, or on appeal.” Nasdaq III, 187 F.R.D. at 476.

The proposed settlement confers a significant, immediate, and certain benefit to the Settlement Class. When weighed against the risks of continued litigation against Settling Defendant, this factor weighs in favor of preliminary approval.

5. The risks of maintaining a class action through trial

While Plaintiffs believe that the Court will certify a litigation class, Settling Defendant would zealously oppose the motion. Even if the Court were to certify a litigation class, certification can be reviewed and modified at any time. And it can reasonably be expected that the losing party on class certification would appeal. Thus, there is a risk that the Action, or particular claims, might not be maintained as a class action through trial. See Frank v. Eastman Kodak Co., 228 F.R.D. 174, 186 (W.D.N.Y. 2005) (noting that “[w]hile plaintiffs might indeed prevail [on a motion for class certification], the risk that the case might be not certified is not illusory”). The risks associated with class certification weigh in favor of preliminary approval.

6. The ability of Settling Defendant to withstand a greater judgment

“[I]n any class action against a large corporation, the defendant entity is likely to be able to withstand a more substantial judgment, and, against the weight of the remaining factors, this fact alone does not undermine the reasonableness of the instant settlement.” Weber v. Gov’t Emps. Ins. Co., 262 F.R.D. 431, 447 (D.N.J. 2009). Moreover, “the benefit of obtaining the cooperation of the Settling Defendants tends to offset the fact that they would be able to withstand a larger judgment.” In re Pressure Sensitive Labelstock Antitrust Litig., 584 F. Supp. 2d 697, 702 (M.D. Pa. 2008). Here, the financial and cooperation obligations the Settlement imposes on Settling Defendant are substantial. This factor weighs in favor of preliminary approval.

7. The reasonableness of the Settlement in light of the best possible recovery and attendant litigation risks

The range-of-reasonableness factor weighs the relief provided in the settlement against the strength of the plaintiff’s case, including the likelihood of obtaining a recovery at trial. This factor “recognizes the uncertainties of law and fact in any particular case and the concomitant risks and costs necessarily inherent in taking any litigation to completion[.]” Newman v. Stein, 464 F.2d 689, 693 (2d Cir. 1972). In applying this factor “the Settlement must be judged ‘not in comparison with the possible recovery in the best of all possible worlds, but rather in light of the strengths and weaknesses of plaintiffs’ case.’” Shapiro v. JPMorgan Chase & Co., 2014 WL 1224666, at *11 (S.D.N.Y. Mar. 24, 2014) (quoting In re Agent Orange Prod. Liab. Litig., 597 F. Supp. 740, 762 (E.D.N.Y. 1984), aff’d 818 F.2d 145 (2d Cir. 1987)).

Plaintiffs’ experts have not yet completed a damages analysis.⁵ However, considering the risks and costs of continued litigation and the benefit of Settling Defendant’s cooperation, in interim Co-Lead Counsel’s view, the $42 million monetary component of the proposed Settlement is an excellent result for the Settlement Class. See In re PaineWebber Ltd. P’ships Litig., 171 F.R.D. 104, 125 (S.D.N.Y.) (“‘great weight’ is accorded to the recommendations of counsel, who are most closely acquainted with the facts of the underlying litigation”), aff’d, 117 F.3d 721 (2d Cir. 1997). Interim Co-Lead Counsel believe that, even if no other settlements are reached or judgments achieved, the combined $102 million between the previously approved Deutsche Bank Settlement and the current HSBC Settlement will still yield meaningful settlement payments to many class members. Additionally, the Settlement Fund has already been paid into the Escrow Account and is already earning interest on behalf of the proposed Settlement Class. See AOL Time Warner, 2006 WL 903236, at *13 (where settlement fund is in escrow earning interest, “the benefit of the Settlement will . . . be realized far earlier than a hypothetical post-trial recovery”). As to the antitrust claims, Plaintiffs may recover the entire amount of damages against the Non-Settling Defendants (after an offset post-trebling for the settlement amounts) under joint and several liability. See In re High-Tech Employee Antitrust Litig., 2014 WL 10520477, at *2 (N.D. Cal. May 16, 2014) (noting that settlements with some defendants preserved plaintiffs’ ability to seek the entire amount of damages from non-settling defendants and weighed in favor of approval).⁶

As discussed above, when evaluating the Settlement, the Court should consider the value of Settling Defendant’s cooperation obligations. As Plaintiffs continue to litigate their claims against the Non-Settling Defendants, access to Settling Defendant’s discovery will inform Plaintiffs’ discovery efforts with respect to Non-Settling Defendants. The provision of such assistance is a meaningful benefit to the Settlement Class and weighs in favor of approval of the Settlement Agreement. See Precision Assocs., Inc. v. Panalpina World Transp. (Holding) Ltd., 2013 WL 4525323, at *9 (E.D.N.Y. Aug. 27, 2013) (defendant’s “cooperation adds considerable value to the Settlement and must be factored into an analysis of the overall reasonableness of the agreement”).

C. The Rule 23(e)(2) Factors Support Preliminary Approval of the Settlement

1. Rule 23(e)(2)(A)—Plaintiffs and interim Co-Lead Counsel have adequately represented the Settlement Class

Plaintiffs each share the same interest as the Settlement Class in prosecuting this Action to ensure the greatest recovery from HSBC and Defendants. Plaintiffs are part of the Settlement

Class and suffered the same injuries as other Settlement Class Members—monetary losses on gold investments caused by Defendants’ manipulation of the price of gold. See Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Dukes, 564 U.S. 338, 348-49 (2011) (class representative “must be part of the class and ‘possess the same interest and suffer the same injury’ as the class members”). Plaintiffs thus are adequate representatives of the Settlement Class and should be appointed as class representatives for Settlement purposes. In addition, interim Co-Lead Counsel have demonstrated they are qualified, experienced, and able to conduct the litigation. See Section II.A.4, infra.

2. Rule 23(e)(2)(B)—the Settlement Agreement was negotiated at arm’s length

As discussed above, the Settlement Agreement is the product of intensive, arm’s-length negotiations. See Section I.A, supra.

3. Rule 23(e)(2)(C)—the monetary relief and cooperation provided by Settling Defendant are adequate

Rule 23(e)(2)(C) asks the Court consider whether the relief provided for the proposed Settlement Class is adequate, taking into account four factors:

- (i) the costs, risks, and delay of trial and appeal; (ii) the effectiveness of any proposed method of distributing relief to the class, including the method of processing class-member claims; (iii) the terms of any proposed award of attorney’s fees, including timing of payment; and (iv) any agreement required to be identified under Rule 23(e)(3).

Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 23(e)(2)(C)(i-iv). Each factor supports preliminary approval.

The costs, risks, and delay of trial and appeal. Plaintiffs discussed this factor above in Sections I.B.1, I.B.3, I.B.4, and I.B.5. The $42 million monetary payment and the other relief provided for the Settlement Class, including Settling Defendant’s cooperation in the administration of notice and in the ongoing litigation against the Non-Settling Defendants, represents a strong recovery, taking into account the potential costs, risk, and delay associated with class certification, trial, and appeal.

Effectiveness of the proposed method of distributing relief to the Settlement Class. This factor requires the Court to consider “the effectiveness of any proposed method of distributing relief to the class, including the method of processing class-member claims.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(2)(C)(ii). “A claims processing method should deter or defeat unjustified claims, but the court should be alert to whether the claims process is unduly demanding.” GSE Bonds, 414 F. Supp. 3d at 694. While a plan of allocation “must be fair and adequate, it need only have a reasonable, rational basis, particularly if recommended by experienced and competent class counsel.” Id.

As set forth in the papers supporting Plaintiffs’ Notice Motion, all being filed concurrently herewith, Plaintiffs have proposed an effective method of processing the claims of members of the Settlement Class. Each member of the Settlement Class wishing to receive proceeds from the Net Settlement Fund must submit a Claim form that is signed under penalty of perjury. Claimants will be required to provide annual gross transaction amounts for “fix-linked” transactions and other transactions. Claimants also must describe the supporting documents or data used to calculate the gross transactions amount. Claimants also agree to provide documentation and other information upon request as part of potential audits of their claims. These methods are reasonable and effective in deterring or defeating unjustified claims.

As also set forth in detail in the papers supporting the Notice Motion, Plaintiffs have proposed a “Plan of Allocation” that effectively and fairly distributes relief to members of the proposed Settlement Class. The Plan of Allocation will allocate the net settlement fund among authorized claimants on a pro rata basis, based on the total qualifying claim amounts, adjusted by a “litigation multiplier” to account for differing statute of limitations risk depending on the time period of the claimants’ transactions. Similar volume-based plans of distribution in financial services antitrust class actions have been regularly approved in this District. See In re London Silver Fixing, Ltd. Antitrust Litig., No. 14-MD-2573, ECF No. 464 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 5, 2020); GSE Bonds, 414 F. Supp. 3d at 698-99 (finding that under volume-based plan of distribution, “claimants will be treated equitably”); In re Credit Default Swaps Antitrust Litig., 2016 WL 2731524, at *4 (S.D.N.Y. Apr. 26, 2016) (approving plan that calculated “each claimant’s recovery based on its pro rata share of the available Settlement Funds in relation to the recoveries to which all claimants who have submitted a valid claim are entitled”).

The terms of any proposed award of attorneys’ fees. As set forth in the Notice Motion, the proposed notice plan informs members of the Settlement Class that interim Co-Lead Counsel will make a request for attorneys’ fees of up to $28.2 million of the common settlement fund, as well as reimbursement of certain costs counsel has advanced in the litigation. An attorneys’ fee award of $28.2 million, which is approximately 28% of the common settlement fund, would in accordance with the commitments interim Co-Lead Counsel made as part of their leadership application. Even if this maximum amount were requested, it would be reasonable in comparison to other fees awarded in this District and elsewhere in settlements in complex class actions. See, e.g., Thornhill v. CVS Pharmacy, Inc., 2014 WL 1100135, at *3 (S.D.N.Y. Mar. 20, 2014) (“In this Circuit, courts typically approve attorney’s fees that range between 30 and 33½%.”) (collecting cases); In re DDAVP Direct Purchaser Antitrust Litig., 2011 WL 12627961 (S.D.N.Y. Nov. 28, 2011) (awarding 33 1/3% attorneys’ fees); In re Oxycontin Antitrust Litig., No. 04-md-1603, ECF No. 60 (S.D.N.Y. Jan. 25, 2011) (awarding 33 1/3% attorneys’ fees); In re Initial Pub. Offering Sec. Litig., 671 F. Supp. 2d 467 (S.D.N.Y. 2009) (awarding 33.33% of a $510 million fund); see also In re Urethane Antitrust Litig., 2016 WL 4060156, at *8 (D. Kan. July 29, 2016) (awarding 33.33% of $835 million settlement).

Any agreement required to be identified under Rule 23(e)(3). This factor requires courts to consider “‘any agreement required to be identified by Rule 23(e)(3),’ that is, ‘any agreement made in connection with the proposal.’” GSE Bonds, 414 F. Supp. 3d at 696 (quoting Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(2)(C)(iv) and 23(e)(3)). As set forth in Exhibit C to the Settlement Agreement, the Parties have agreed that, in the event that members of the Settlement Class who transacted in a certain amount of Gold Investments during the Settlement Class Period opt out of the Class, the parties will meet and confer, and if unable to reach a resolution, Settling Defendant may present the issue of whether the Materiality Threshold has been met, and if so, seek an appropriate remedy from an independent and neutral mediator to determine the appropriate remedy. No other agreements exist, and thus, this factor weighs in favor of final approval.

4. Rule 23(e)(2)(D)—the Settlement treats Class members equitably relative to each other

This Rule 23(e)(2) factor “could include whether the apportionment of relief among class members takes appropriate account of differences among their claims, and whether the scope of the release may affect class members in different ways that bear on the apportionment of relief.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23 advisory committee’s note to 2018 amendment. As discussed above, under Plaintiffs’ proposed Plan of Allocation, authorized claimants will receive a pro rata share of the recovery based on the ratio of their volume of gold-related transactions to the volume of gold-related transactions of the Settlement Class as a whole, with each being subject to the same common-sense adjustments discussed above. Further, the Settlement Agreement’s release treats all members of the Settlement Class equitably relative to one another: Subject to Court approval, all members of the Settlement Class will be giving HSBC an identical release.

II. THE SETTLEMENT CLASS SHOULD BE CERTIFIED

Certification of a settlement class must satisfy the requirements of Rule 23(a), as well as at least one of the provisions of 23(b). See In re Am. Int'l Grp., Inc. Sec. Litig., 689 F.3d 229, 242 (2d Cir. 2012). When certification of a settlement class is sought, “courts must take a liberal rather than a restrictive approach.” Cohen v. J.P. Morgan Chase & Co., 262 F.R.D. 153, 157-58 (E.D.N.Y. 2009). As demonstrated below, the proposed Settlement Class meets these requirements.

A. The Requirements of Rule 23(a) Are Satisfied

Rule 23(a) permits an action to be maintained as a class action if (1) the class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable; (2) there are questions of law or fact common to the class; (3) the claims or defenses of the representative parties are typical of the claims or defenses of the class; and (4) the representative parties will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a).

I. Numerosity

In cases like this one involving widely traded financial instruments, numerosity is readily satisfied. See Wallace v. IntraLinks, 302 F.R.D. 310, 315 (S.D.N.Y. 2014) (“common sense assumptions . . . suffice to demonstrate numerosity”); see also Consol. Rail Corp. v. Town of Hyde Park, 47 F.3d 473, 483 (2d Cir. 1995) (numerosity presumed if a class has over 40 members). The size of the precious metals markets alone is sufficient to satisfy the numerosity requirement. See Campbell v. Purdue Pharma, L.P., 2004 WL 5840206, at *4 (E.D. Mo. June 25, 2004) (noting that the volume of commerce made it “reasonable to assume that the class defined by Plaintiffs would have such numbers that their joinder would be both impractical and inconvenient”). Interim Co-Lead Counsel estimate that there are potentially many thousands of members of the proposed Settlement Class.

2. Common Questions of Law or Fact

The commonality requirement is likewise easily met because it is satisfied by a single common question of law or fact. See Dukes, 564 U.S. at 359; see also Cordes & Co. Fin. Servs., Inc. v. A.G. Edwards & Sons, Inc., 502 F.3d 91, 105 (2d Cir. 2007) (“allegations of the existence of . . . conspiracy are susceptible to common proof”). The nature of antitrust claims brought under Section 1 of the Sherman Act has led courts to routinely, and almost uniformly, find that commonality exists. See also Richburg v. Palisades Collection LLC, 247 F.R.D. 457, 462 (E.D. Pa. 2008) (“Antitrust, price-fixing conspiracy cases, by their nature, deal with common legal and factual questions about the existence, scope and effect of the alleged conspiracy.”).⁷ This case is no different. Proof of Defendants’ conspiracy to rig the gold market will be the heart of this case at trial and is crucial to the claims of all members of the Settlement Class. Each member of the Settlement Class has a common interest in proving the existence, scope, effectiveness, and impact of the alleged conspiracy.

3. Typicality

The typicality standard is satisfied when “each class member’s claim arises from the same course of events and each class member makes similar legal arguments to prove the defendant’s liability.” In re Flag Telecom Holdings, Ltd. Sec. Litig., 574 F.3d 29, 35 (2d Cir. 2009); Tsereteli v. Residential Asset Securitization Trust 2006-A8, 283 F.R.D. 199, 208 (S.D.N.Y. 2012) (typicality requirement “not demanding”).

⁷ See also In re Vitamin C Antitrust Litig., 279 F.R.D. 90, 99 (E.D.N.Y. 2012) (commonality satisfied based on common question of whether defendants’ price-fixing agreement caused an artificial increase in the market price of vitamin C); In re Carbon Black Antitrust Litig., 2005 WL 102966, at *11 (D. Mass. Jan. 18, 2005) (collecting antitrust cases satisfying commonality requirement based on the existence and scope of conspiracies); In re Nasdaq Market-Makers Antitrust Litig., 169 F.R.D. 493, 510 (S.D.N.Y. 1996) (commonality satisfied based on common questions as to the existence, scope, effectiveness, and impact of conspiracy and the appropriate injunctive and monetary relief).

Here, Plaintiffs' claims are typical because they arise from the same events or course of conduct that gives rise to the claims of the Settlement Class—namely, Defendants' alleged participation in an unlawful conspiracy to rig the PM Fixing. See In re Air Cargo Shipping Servs. Antitrust Litig., 2014 WL 7882100, at *31 (E.D.N.Y. Oct. 15, 2014) (“Because the representative plaintiffs will seek to prove that they were harmed by the same overall course of conduct and in the same way as the remainder of the class, their claims are by all appearances typical of the class.”). All members of the Settlement Class seek redress for the impact the PM Fixing's manipulation had on their Gold Investment Transactions.⁸ Because these are the same elements that both Plaintiffs and other members of the Settlement Class would have to prove separately if they brought individual actions, the typicality requirement is satisfied.

4. Adequacy

Adequacy is met if the class representatives do not have interests that are antagonistic to those of the class and their chosen counsel is qualified, experienced, and able to conduct the litigation. See In re Currency Conversion Fee Antitrust Litig., 264 F.R.D. 100, 111-12 (S.D.N.Y. 2010). Importantly, “[o]nly a conflict that goes to the very subject matter of the litigation will defeat a party's claim of representative status.” Martens v. Smith Barney, Inc., 181 F.R.D. 243, 259 (S.D.N.Y. 1998); see also In re Nasdaq Market-Makers Antitrust Litig., 169 F.R.D. 493, 514-15 (S.D.N.Y. 1996) (holding that to deny class certification on adequacy grounds, “it must be shown that any asserted ‘conflict’ is so palpable as to outweigh the substantial interest of every class member in proceeding with the litigation”).

Plaintiffs Michel de Chabert-Ostland, Compañía Minera Dayton SCM, Edward R. Derksen, Frank Flanagan, KPFF Investment, Inc., Duane Lewis, Larry Dean Lewis, Kevin

⁸ See Third Amended Complaint, ECF No. 266 ¶ 29 & n.16 (defining Gold Investments).

Maher, Robert Marechal, Kelly and Blanche McKennon, Thomas Moran, J. Scott Nicholson, Richard White, and David Windmiller are adequate representatives of the Settlement Class and should be appointed as class representatives, solely for settlement purposes. There are no conflicts between Plaintiffs and members of the Settlement Class concerning the subject matter of this litigation. All Plaintiffs engaged in Gold Investment Transactions affected by Defendants' conduct. The same is true of the other members of the Settlement Class. Thus, Plaintiffs' interest in proving liability and damages is entirely aligned with that of the Settlement Class.

Interim Co-Lead Counsel appointed by the Court are experienced in class and antitrust litigation and have served in leadership roles in numerous major antitrust and other class actions in courts throughout the United States. See also Moran v. The Bank of Nova Scotia, No. 14 Civ. 2213, ECF Nos. 17-20, 23 (S.D.N.Y. July 22, 2014) (discussing interim Co-Lead Counsel's qualifications). Interim Co-Lead Counsel have diligently represented the interests of the Settlement Class in this litigation and will continue to do so.

Accordingly, the requirements of Rule 23(a)(4), as well as the requirements of Rule 23(g) relating to the qualifications of interim Co-Lead Counsel, are satisfied.

B. The Requirements of Rule 23(b)(3) Are Satisfied

If the proposed class satisfies Rule 23(a), a class should be certified under Rule 23(b)(3) if “the court finds that the questions of law or fact common to class members predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, and that a class action is superior to other available methods for fairly and efficiently adjudicating the controversy.” Here, questions of law or fact common to the Settlement Class predominate over any individualized questions, and a class action is manifestly the superior method of adjudicating the controversy.

Predominance exists where the questions that are capable of common proof are “more substantial than the issues subject only to individualized proof.” Roach v. T.L. Cannon Corp., 778 F.3d 401, 405 (2d Cir. 2015). Predominance is a “test readily met in certain cases alleging consumer or securities fraud or violations of the antitrust laws.” Amchem Prods. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 625 (1997).⁹ Here, proof of an unlawful agreement will consist of class-wide, common evidence that will “focus on [Defendants’] conduct, not on the actions of putative class members.” Dial Corp. v. News Corp., 2015 WL 4104624, at *5 (S.D.N.Y. June 18, 2015). In addition, predominance is demonstrated, as in this case, where the impact of the asserted antitrust violation, as well as the damages arising out of the misconduct, can be shown on a class-wide basis. See Sullivan v. DB Invs., Inc., 667 F.3d 273, 338 (3d Cir. 2011) (“All plaintiffs here claim injury that by reason of defendants’ conduct . . . has caused a common and measurable form of economic damage. . . . All claims arise out of the same course of defendants’ conduct; all share a common nucleus of operative fact, supplying the necessary cohesion.”). The predominance element is satisfied in this case.

Finally, as numerous courts have held, a class action is a superior method of adjudicating claims in cases like this one.¹⁰ Consequently, courts have consistently certified class actions in such cases. Accordingly, the requirements of Rule 23(b)(3), like those of Rule 23(a), are satisfied, and certification of the Settlement Class for purposes of settlement is appropriate.

III. APPOINTMENT OF CLAIMS ADMINISTRATOR, ESCROW AGENT, AND RELATED RELIEF

As part of the proposed Preliminary Approval Order, Plaintiffs also seek the Court's preliminary approval of (i) The Huntington National Bank¹¹ as the Escrow Agent, and (ii) the Settlement Fund as Qualified Settlement Funds pursuant to Internal Revenue Code § 468B and related Treasury Regulations. See Preliminary Approval Order ¶¶ 14, 15. These requests are identical to the requests the Court preliminarily approved in connection with the Deutsche Bank Settlement. See ECF No. 187 ¶¶ 13, 14.

Plaintiffs and Settling Defendant have agreed that the Escrow Agent may make the following disbursements from the Settlement Fund for purposes of paying costs (other than attorney's fees) incurred in preparing and providing the Settlement Class Notice and paying other administrative expenses, including notice and administration expenses of and incurred by the Claims Administrator: (i) up to $1.5 million prior to the entry of the Final Judgment and Order of Dismissal, unless Court approval is obtained to exceed that amount; and (ii) up to $2.5 million after entry of the Final Judgment and Order of Dismissal but prior to the Effective Date, unless Court approval is obtained to exceed that amount. See SA § 8(a). Such funds are not recoverable if the Settlement is terminated or does not become final. Id. As part of the Preliminary Approval Order, Plaintiffs seek the Court's approval to pay these administrative

Finally, Plaintiffs also seek the Court's preliminary approval of Plaintiffs' designation of Heffler Claims Group ("Heffler") as the Claims Administrator in connection with the Settlement. See Preliminary Approval Order ¶ 13. Given interim Co-Lead Counsel's extensive knowledge and experience in working with various claims administrators, interim Co-Lead Counsel has determined that the selection of Heffler is in the best interest of the Settlement Class. Heffler has extensive experience administering claims processes in complex class-action cases such as this one.

CONCLUSION

On the basis of the foregoing, Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court grant Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Approval of Settlement Agreement with HSBC Bank plc and enter the Preliminary Approval Order.
